➤ Our Why

Sheila & Wayne Clarke
Destiny Navigators Family Outreach

From our years of working with individuals and couples, we have found that those seeking relationship advice, mentorship, or general guidance often first turn to trusted family and friends for support.

While they may find comfort in having someone to share experiences with, many eventually feel that these interactions do not lead to effective solutions for their relational or coaching needs.

Pre-marital counseling typically costs between $50 and $200 per session, with the average rate falling between $130 and $150 per hour. Given the high hourly costs of these professional services, it is common within the Christian community for other soul-caregivers—such as Christian laypersons, licensed and ordained pastors, and pastoral counselors—to be the next trusted source for counseling before individuals reach out to professional resources. However, in many church communities, these options may not be accessible for everyone.

That is why we found DNFO to be a vitally necessary asset for individuals, families, and couples seeking relationship mentoring and/or coaching.

Meet our founders.
WAYNE & SHEILA

“As a faith-driven couple, we are passionate about empowering others to thrive in their relationships. Through heartfelt coaching, they provide the tools and insights needed to navigate love, commitment, and spiritual unity.”

Wayne and Sheila Clarke have enjoyed more than 40 years of marriage, serving as the foundation and inspiration for the heart of Destiny Navigators.

Their commitment to equipping fellow believers for relational success emerged from their own experiences and initial challenges. After navigating challenges in the early stages of their marriage, it became apparent that individuals and couples needed to be better equipped to navigate their relationships.

Through years of mentoring and counseling, a need arose for Christian believers to improve relationship management skills, leading to the establishment of educational resources for dating, engagement, and marriage.

In 2024, Wayne and Sheila co-founded Destiny Navigators Family Outreach, a non-profit guided by the Holy Spirit, aiming to transform the world and church by nurturing believers to exemplify mature love, as emphasized in John 13:35.

Our STORY cnt.

Their aspiration through Destiny Navigators Family Outreach is to function as a community-based ministry that collaborates with other Christian soul caregivers, such as pastors, who often struggle to meet the diverse relational needs of their congregants due to overwhelming duties. They aim to be a trusted resource for these soul caregivers to refer individuals, couples, groups, and leaders in need of support.

Currently, Wayne is the Senior Pastor of Gospel Feast Church in Rush City, Illinois, while Sheila serves as the Family Pastorate Administrator. Before assuming their roles as senior leaders at Gospel Feast, they both contributed as Oversight Pastors (Pastoral Counselors) in their previous home church's Marriage Ministry. Their combined experience in team ministry spans over 20 years, during which they have hosted and participated as guest speakers at various Christian Relationship and Marriage conferences, seminars, and workshops.

As Certified Christian Marriage Mentors, they are passionate about guiding the next generation of Christian couples and providing enrichment and restoration to those already married through Marriage Mentoring and Coaching. Additionally, after over 15 years of professional experience as a Certified Christian Relationship Coach and Certified Women's Life Coach, Sheila established Destiny Navigators Coaching Services during the pandemic. She is also certified in Christian Counseling.

Our Vision & Mission

Vision

To be a beacon of hope and transformation, inspiring families worldwide to cultivate lasting, meaningful connections rooted in love, faith, and mutual respect.

We envision a future where every individual and couple is empowered with the knowledge and support to excel in God-centered relationships, creating a legacy of harmony and fulfillment for generations to come.

Mission

To provide individuals and couples with tools and education for healthy, God-honoring relationships.

Through mentorship, coaching, and resources, we empower families to face challenges with faith and resilience, ensuring their relationships thrive in a supportive environment.

PROBLEM

So, What's the Problem?

Our extensive experience in Pastoral Counseling, Relationship and Marriage Coaching, and Mentoring has shown us that individuals and couples, whether pre-marriage, post-marriage, or post-divorce, do their best with the knowledge they have. This knowledge is shaped by upbringing, relationship models, and religious teachings or their absence. Many people, with good intentions, strive to succeed in their relationships based on what they know. This applies to both Christians and non-Christians.

As Hosea 4:6 states, “My people perish for lack of knowledge...” This verse highlights that suffering and failure often stem not from a lack of effort, but from a deficiency in knowledge, wisdom, understanding, discernment, and divine truth.

Unfortunately, many Christians only seek help when their relationships are in crisis, as a last resort before considering divorce. Some choose not to seek help at all, opting to pray and wait, hoping time will resolve their issues. As scripture says, “Faith without works is dead” (James 2:26).

SOLUTION

Enhancing Relationship Success Through Education

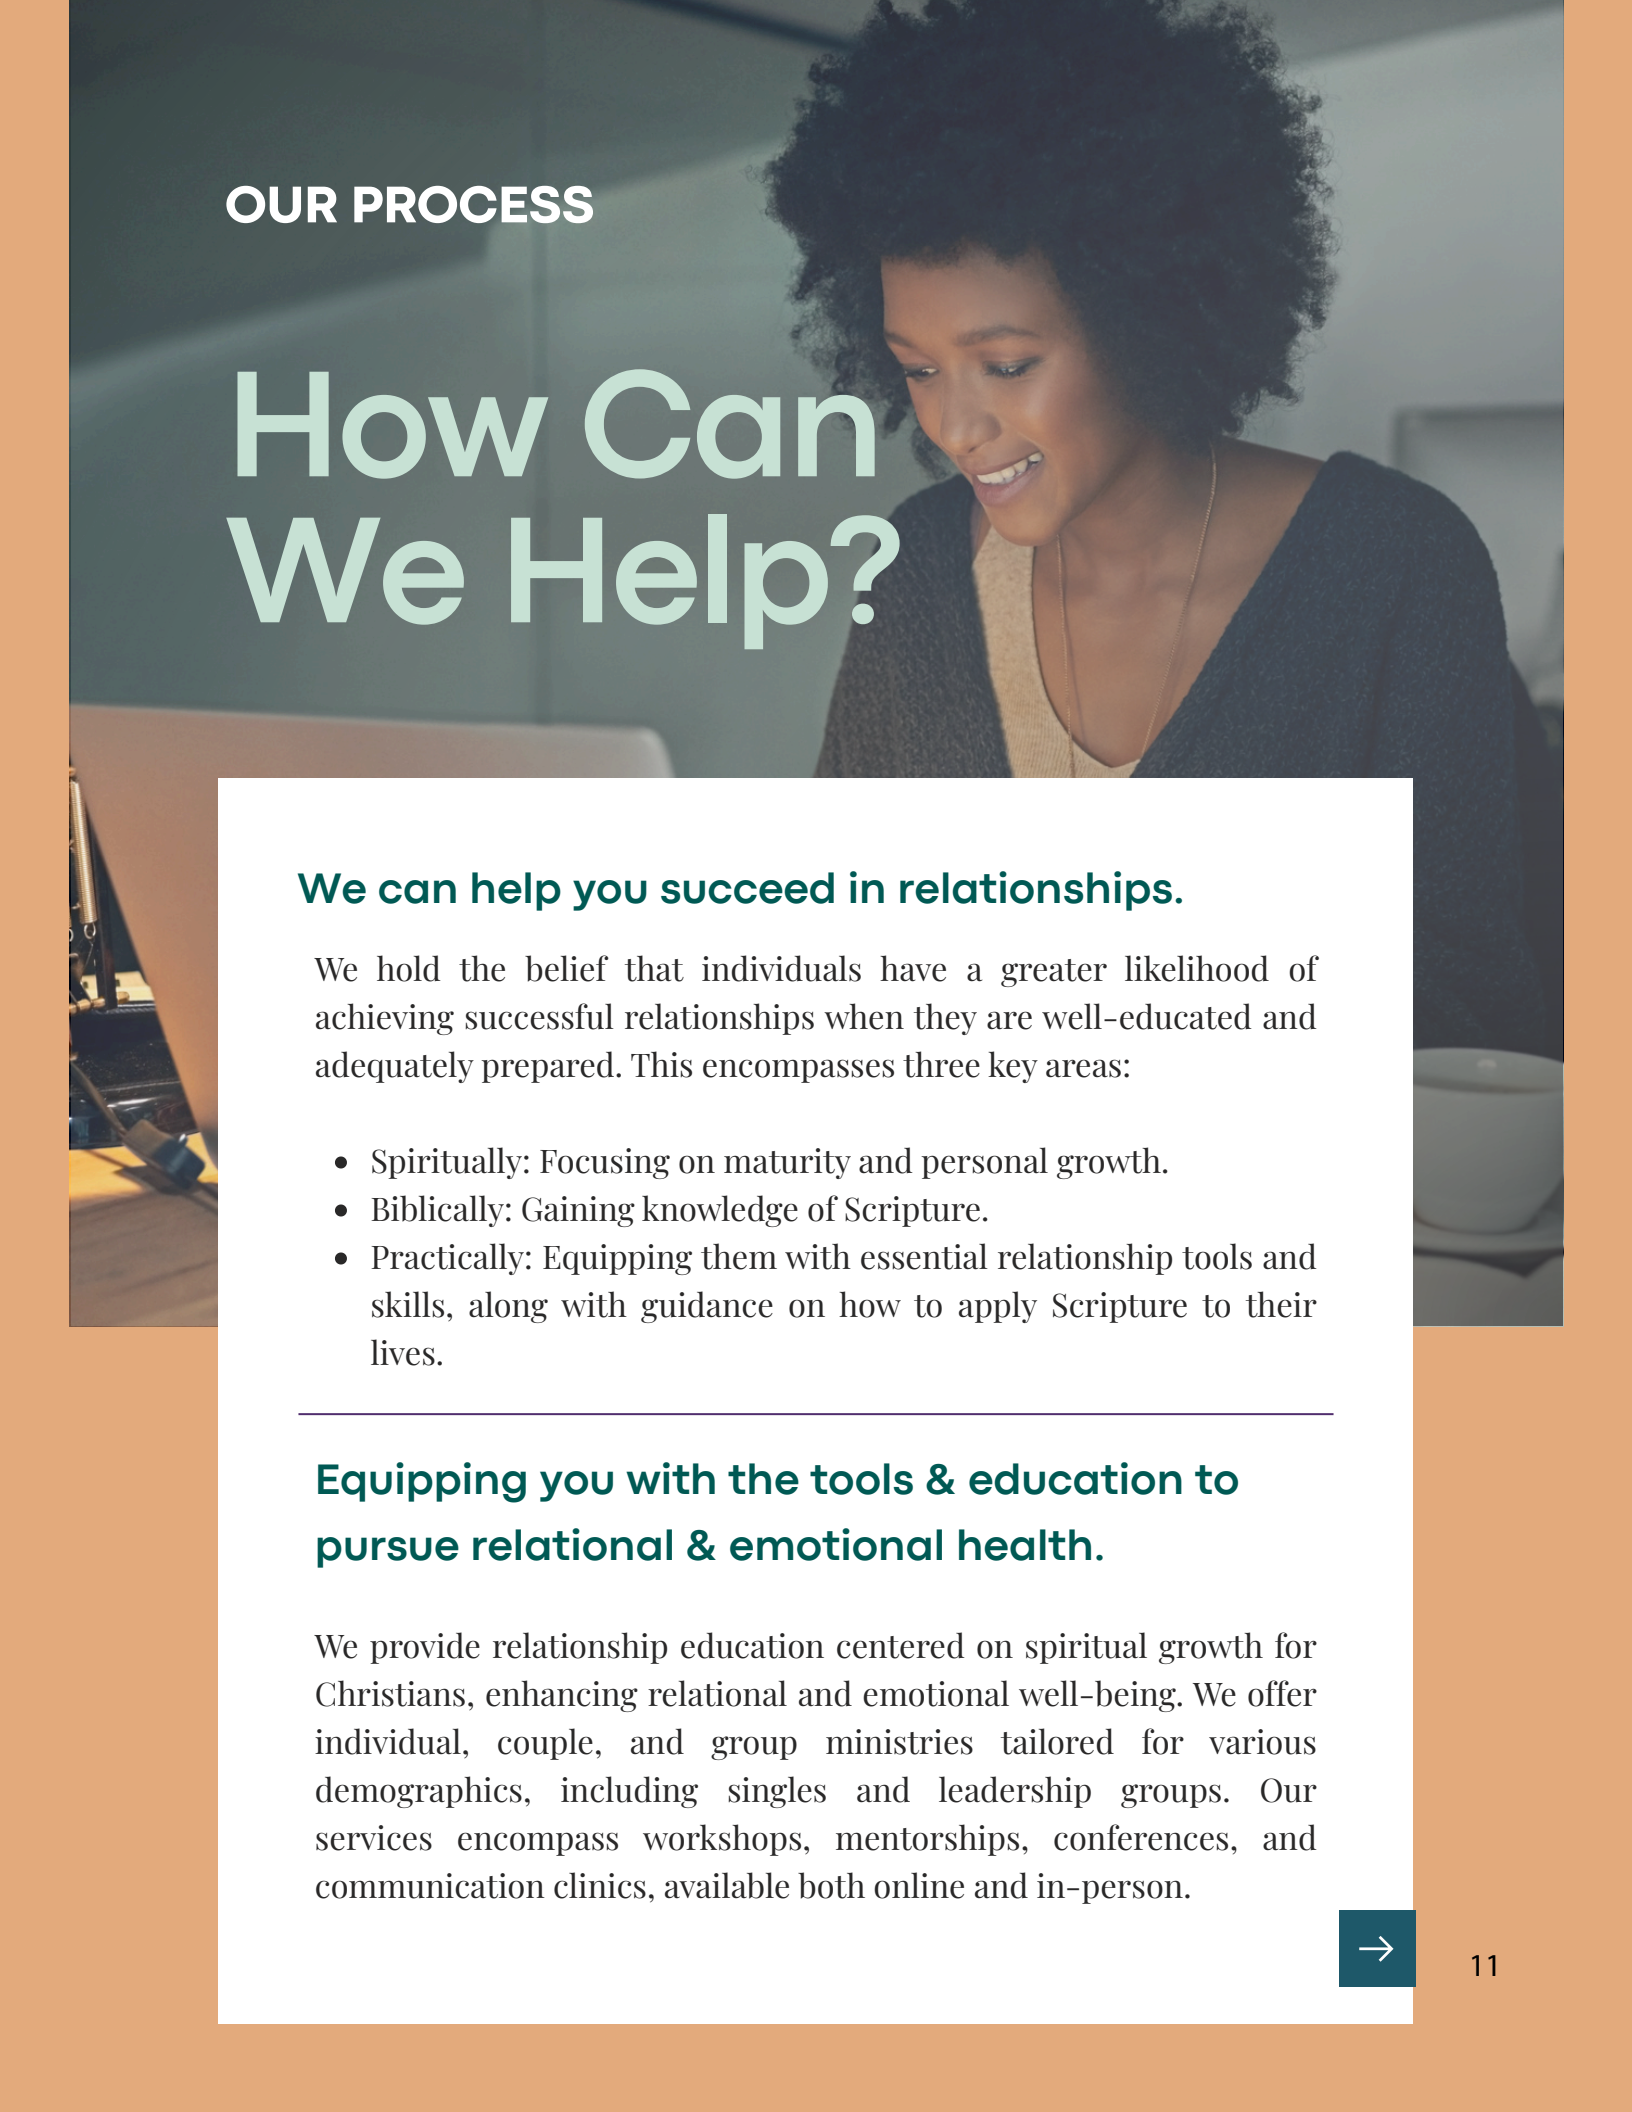

We believe that individuals have a greater opportunity for successful relationships when they are well-educated and equipped in three key areas: spiritually (which involves maturity and personal growth), biblically (a solid understanding of Scripture), and practically (providing the essential relationship tools and skills, along with guidance on applying Scripture to everyday life).

Our Mission at Destiny Navigators Family Outreach

Destiny Navigators Family Outreach offers relationship education while emphasizing intentional spiritual formation to better prepare Christian individuals, couples, and families in crucial aspects of their relational and emotional well-being.

We deliver this education through a variety of platforms, including individual, couple, and group ministry sessions tailored for singles, married couples, men, women, and leadership groups. Our offerings include workshops, mentorship programs, conferences, and communication clinics, with some sessions available via Zoom and others held in person.

OUR PROCESS

How Can We Help?

We can help you succeed in relationships.

We hold the belief that individuals have a greater likelihood of achieving successful relationships when they are well-educated and adequately prepared. This encompasses three key areas:

- Spiritually: Focusing on maturity and personal growth.
- Biblically: Gaining knowledge of Scripture.
- Practically: Equipping them with essential relationship tools and skills, along with guidance on how to apply Scripture to their lives.

Equipping you with the tools & education to pursue relational & emotional health.

We provide relationship education centered on spiritual growth for Christians, enhancing relational and emotional well-being. We offer individual, couple, and group ministries tailored for various demographics, including singles and leadership groups. Our services encompass workshops, mentorships, conferences, and communication clinics, available both online and in-person.
